Why is the Meat So Pink?

Rest assured that our meat is fully cooked. The pink color in the meat is a result of the smoking process and this is proof that you are getting a true slow-smoked product.

Our U.S. farm-raised catfish grow in ponds where they are fed grain pellets which float on the surface of the pond, and the flesh is light and sweet as a result unlike the darker, muddy flavor that you find in bottom-feeding river catfish.
